

Project management level of certification

The International Project Management Association \(IPMA\) was founded in 1967 and resides in Switzerland. It is the oldest non-profit project management organisation for PM-professionals. IPMA is a global association of more than 40 national member associations in Africa, Asia, Europe und America. In Germany the IPMA is represented through the national member association "Deutsche Gesellschaft für Projektmanagement" (GPM). Learn the methods of project management in our courses and seminars following international standards and become certified as project manager of international level D.

